

'Care Share

Current Scams and Fraud

Montana SMP has heard reports of catheter kits showing up as claims on Medicare statements. These are being billed to beneficiaries who don't need them or use them. Please review your Medicare statements and look through all claims. If you see something that seems wrong or you don't understand, contact the SMP!

Expect New Fraud Schemes for COVID Tests

Now that the federal government is allowing every U.S. household to order four free COVID-19 rapid tests, fraud schemes may follow. In fact, fraudsters have already been sending COVID test kits in the mail to Medicare beneficiaries across the country who did not request them. The Senior Medicare Patrol (SMP) deemed it the most-reported Medicare coronavirus fraud. Read a story from Bloomberg Law.

SMP Resource Center products often contain links to copyrighted material. The SMP Resource Center is providing these links as a convenience and for informational purposes in our efforts to report and educate on Medicare fraud; they do not constitute a guarantee, endorsement, or approval by SMP of any of the information available on the external site. SMP bears no responsibility for the accuracy, legality, or content of the external site or for that of subsequent links. If you have any questions or concerns about the links provided, please contact the SMP Center at nliebau@smpresource.org.

READ YOUR MEDICARE SUMMARY NOTICES or MEDICARE ADVANTAGE EXPLANATION OF BENEFITS

Please open and read all statements from your Medicare covered services. Fraudsters know how to bilk Medicare and you are the doorkeeper. Reading and questioning anything you don't recognize is the number one way to stop fraud.

HELP STOP MEDICARE FRAUD

Genetic Testing Fraud Sweeps Nation

Across the nation genetic testing company representatives are offering “free” genetic tests to Medicare beneficiaries. These tests can also be referred to as DNA screenings, cancer screenings, and hereditary testing, to name a few. The representatives go to senior centers, senior housing, health fairs, and even parking lots to convince people to let them take a cheek swab for testing. They advertise on TV and online. They promise that the results will help recipients avoid diseases or find the right medications. All they ask for in return is the person’s Medicare number.

While this may sound harmless, it is dangerous. These companies can steal people’s medical identities and falsely bill Medicare, draining the system of needed funds. Tests ordered under these circumstances are medically unnecessary and could lead to confusion about someone’s health condition.

Because confusion exists regarding Medicare’s coverage for genetic tests for cancer and other conditions, the Office of Inspector General (OIG) released a fraud alert on the topic. It advises the public to be suspicious of anyone who offers “free” genetic testing and then requests their Medicare number.

The OIG’s fraud alert also states that a physician that a person knows and trusts should approve any requests for genetic testing. In fact, federal regulations state that diagnostic tests must be ordered by the physician who is treating the beneficiary – in other words, the person’s own doctor. A doctor who has never met or examined a patient, often hired by a genetic testing company, should not be signing off on any tests. That’s a red flag.

The SMP recommends that beneficiaries should:

- Refuse to give out their personal information or accept screening services, including a cheek swab, from someone at a community event, a local fair, a farmer’s market, a parking lot, and/or any other large event.
- Go to their own doctor to assess their condition, not a doctor on the phone they’ve never met from a company they don’t know.
- Always read their Medicare Summary Notice (MSN) or Explanation of Benefits (EOB). The words “gene analysis” or “molecular pathology” as service codes may indicate questionable genetic testing.
- Refuse the delivery of any genetic testing kit that was not ordered by their physician.
- Be suspicious of anyone who offers free genetic testing and then requests their Medicare number. If their personal information is compromised, it may be used in other fraud schemes.
- Contact their local SMP for help. SMPs empower and assist Medicare beneficiaries, their families, and caregivers to prevent, detect, and report health care fraud, errors, and abuse.

The Senior Medicare Patrol (SMP) is ready to provide you with the information you need to PROTECT yourself from Medicare fraud, errors, and abuse; DETECT potential fraud, errors, and abuse; and REPORT your concerns. SMPs help educate and empower Medicare beneficiaries in the fight against health care fraud. Your SMP can help you with your questions, concerns, or complaints about potential fraud and abuse issues. It also provides information and educational presentations. To reach Montana Senior Medicare Patrol, call 1-800-551-3191 or visit www.smpresource.org.